

Aims:

- Know and understand the history of these islands as a coherent, chronological narrative, from the earliest times to the present day: how people's lives have shaped this nation and how Britain has influenced and been influenced by the wider world
- Know and understand significant aspects of the history of the wider world: the nature of ancient civilisations; the expansion and dissolution of empires; characteristic features of past non-European societies; achievements and follies of mankind.
- Gain and deploy a historically grounded understanding of abstract terms such as 'empire', 'civilisation', 'parliament' and 'peasantry'
- Understand historical concepts such as continuity and change, cause and consequence, similarity, difference and significance, and use them to make connections, draw contrasts, analyse trends, frame historically valid questions and create their own structured accounts, including written narratives and analyses
- Understand the methods of historical enquiry, including how evidence is used rigorously to make historical claims, and discern how and why contrasting arguments and interpretations of the past have been constructed History
- Gain historical perspective by placing their growing knowledge into different contexts, understanding the connections between local, regional, national and international history; between cultural, economic, military, political, religious and social history; and between short- and long-term timescales.

Year 3	How did the life of Ancient Britons change	What was the impact of the Romans on Britain?	How did the civilisation of Egypt wax and from the Stone Age to Iron Age		wane?
	 KQ1: What was 'new' about the New Stone Age? Learning Objectives Understand what Britain was like after the last Ice Age. Know how few people lived in Britain at the time. Explain how the Ancient Britons fed and clothed themselves during the Stone Age. Explain why they were nomadic. KQ2: Which was better, bronze or iron? Learning Objectives Understand how bronze was made. Explain where copper and tin come from. Describe how bronze tools and weapons were made. KQ3: If you were Julius Caesar, would you have invaded Britain in 55BC? Learning Objectives 	 KQ1: Why on earth did the Romans leave sunny Italy to invade this cold island on the edge of the empire? Learning Objectives Understand the meaning, size and timescale of the Roman empire by drawing conclusions from maps and timelines. Links ideas with concept of empire, eg: secure border, gain slaves. KQ2: Why did Boudica stand up to the Romans and what image do we have of her today? Learning Objectives understand the personal motivation of Boudica and can link to actions taken by the Romans. KQ3: How were the Romans able to keep control over such a vast empire? Learning Objectives Explain why the Roman army was so powerful including organisation, conditions, pay etc. 	 KQ1: Who built the Great Pyramid at Giza? Learning Objective Select and combine information from different sources. KQ2: Why did Hatshepsut send an expedition to Punt? Learning Objective Give reasons for and results of the main events in the period studied. KQ3: What did Akhenaten do that made him so hated? Learning Objective Understand that the past is represented and interpreted in different ways. KQ4: What happened to Akhenaten's successors? Learning Objective Describe characteristic features of past societies and identify changes within periods.

 Explain what buried hoards tell us about Britain at the time. Explain what bog bodies tell us about life at the time. Explain what the written sources from the time tell us about Britain. Explain what life was like in our local area during this time. KQ4: When do you think it was better to live – Stone Age, Bronze Age or Iron Age? Learning objective Produce living graphs showing the attractions and difficulties of the Stone Age, Bronze Age and Iron Age. 	 KQ4: How did the Roman way of life contrast with the Celtic lifestyle they found when they arrived and how do we know? Learning Objectives Identify the most significant changes. Create links to the local area (Fort at Chesterton) KQ5: How can we solve the mystery of why this great empire came to an end? Learning Objectives ask as well as answer questions to structure their enquiry. KQ6: How much of our lives today can possibly be influenced by the Romans who lived here 2,000 years ago? Learning Objectives describe a range of legacies. 	 KQ5: How significant was Ramesses II? Learning Objective Understand that some events have been interpreted in different ways and suggest reasons for this. KQ6: How did Ptolemy contribute to trade? Learning objective Describe features of past societies and begin to make links between them KQ7: How did the civilisation of Egypt end? Learning objectives Know that some events and people have been interpreted in different ways and suggest possible reasons for this. Use knowledge and understanding to select and organise information to produce structured work.
 By the end of this topic, children should know: immigrants brought new animals and crops to Britain and the impact this had on settlement. most of our evidence for the Stone Age comes from archaeologists. archaeologists disagree with each other. some recent discoveries are changing the way we think about the Stone Age. where iron comes from. how iron tools and weapons were made. why it took so long for iron to reach Britain. 	 By the end of this topic, children should know: the meaning, size and timescale of the Roman Empire the reasons for Claudius' personal motivation. the apprehension of the celts. the personal motivation of Boudica. how diverse the lifestyle was that the Romans were ahead of their time for legacies to have lasted over 2,000 years. Children should be able to: understand that Boudica has been represented in different ways see why the Roman army was so powerful. 	 By the end of this topic, children should know: how the pyramids came to be built. they used different ships for different purposes. why Egyptians traded. how the ancient Greek civilisation became fused with that of Egypt. who key figures in Ancient Egyptian civilisation were, e.g., Cleopatra. Children should be able to: evaluate the usefulness of Herodotus as a source. recognise that there will be different viewpoints of Akhenaten's actions.

	 how bronze and iron tools changed life. what Roman people said about Britain. what Romans traded with Britain what Romans traded with Britain what Britons thought about Rome. Children should be able to construct a simple timeline showing some of the changes through the Stone Age. explain the main changes brought about by bronze and iron. make a judgement based on the evidence available to them. build their own interpretation of Iron Age history. make comparisons between different periods in time. 	 critique a short film evaluating its strengths and weaknesses as an explanation. see which the most significant changes would have been e.g emergence of towns and villas in countryside. understand the nature of evidence from Roman times e.g. remains of buildings, coins, written descriptions, objects such as tesserae, bones, oil lamps. list and describe a range of legacies including roads, place-names, surviving buildings and also other influences such as Latin, calendar, money etc. 	 describe characteristic features of Ancient Egyptian society. why Rameses II ensured that only his version of events should be remembered. give a simple explanation of Cleopatra's dilemma - rising power of Rome and the decline of Egypt.
Year 4	Who were the Anglo-Saxons and how did their invasion of and settlement in Britain change the landscape and culture?	Vikings – Raiders or settlers? KQ1: What image do we have of the Vikings? Learning Objective	Local Study – Transport (links with KS1 units on Josiah Wedgwood and George Stephenson)
	 KQ1a: Why did the Anglo-Saxons invade? Learning Objective Suggest push and pull factors for the Angle Saxon invasion 	 Describe 3 stereotypical images from today's media and popular perceptions. 	How did the transport help Stoke-on-Trent to become a ceramic centre?
	the Anglo Saxon invasion. KQ1b: Where did the early Anglo-Saxons live and how do we know? Learning Objective • Explain where the Saxons first settled. • Explain the nature and significance	 KQ2: Why have the Vikings gained such a bad reputation? Learning Objectives Understand how the Vikings got their reputation and why reality may have been distorted. Distinguish between a Saxon and Viking 	 KQ1: How did early transport hold back developments in the locality? Learning Objective Use key vocabulary linked to early transport. Year 5	How can we investigate the Indus Valley Civilisation?	How can we find out about the civilisation of Ancient Greece?	What was the Blitz? (Links to Year 2 topics on Remembrance and Walter Tull)
	 KQ1: What links the Indus Valley with other early civilisations? Learning Objectives Understand the achievements of the earliest civilizations – an overview of where and when the first civilizations appeared KQ2: How was the Indus Civilisation discovered? Learning Objectives Use archaeology to learn about the past. 	 KQ1: Who were the Ancient Greeks? Learning Objectives Identify the location, physical features and climate of modern Greece. Locate Ancient Greece, Athens and Sparta on a map and consider their geographical significance. Use research to identify similarities and differences between life in Athens and Sparta. KQ2: What do artefacts tell us about what life was like in Ancient Greece? Learning Objectives 	 KQ1: How significant was the Blitz and how does it relate to the rest of the war? Learning Objectives address historically valid questions related to the cause of the Blitz and its wider context. KQ2: What happened? Whose war was it? Learning Objectives Develop a coherent narrative of the war including a British and World dimension.

 Understand chronology and the spans of time. KQ3: How can we find out what life was like in an Indus City? Learning Objectives Explore evidence that remains from the Indus Valley Civilisation. Observe evidence in order to make inferences, hypotheses and formulate questions. Make inferences form evidence. Understand how descriptions can be interpretations and distinguish facts from opinion, or interpretation. KQ4: Why have archaeologists disagreed about what the Indus Civilisation was like and why it came to an end? Learning Objectives Understand evidence can be interpreted in several ways. Understand why there can be different explanations of what happened, and ideas change as new evidence is discovered. Understand how new scientific understanding can change ideas and knowledge about the past. Understand that more than one interpretation could be historically valid and might not provide a definitive answer Compare and contrast evidence from other ancient civilisations 	 Use artefacts to make inferences about what life was like in Ancient Greece. Consider the utility and limitations of using artefacts in isolation from other historical sources. KQ3: What do some of our buildings tell us about how we view Ancient Greece today? Learning Objectives Use pictorial sources to identify the similarities and differences between Ancient Greek and contemporary architecture and make inferences about the influence of the latter. KQ4: How were the Ancient Greeks governed and are there any similarities with how we are governed today? Learning Objectives Understand and use specialised vocabulary and terminology such as ancient, modern, civilisation, citizens and democracy. Understand how city states in Ancient Greece were ruled and how democracy in Ancient Athens is different from that in the UK today. KQ5: How have the Olympic Games changed since they were first held in Ancient Greece?
